IMAGINE BY ME

Imagine if, you could feel the warm breath of a nuzzle.
Imagine if you could feel the security of a stance.
Imagine if you could trust every move made.
Imagine if a life or limb would be given to protect yours.
Imagine if they would run to you the minute, they saw you.
Imagine if you could put your life in their hands.
Imagine if you could feel the strength of their carriage.
Imagine if their big brown eyes held the memories of your time together.
Imagine if they made you grin, an uncontrollable grin.
Imagine if you loved until your heartbreaks.
Imagine if the touch was always warm and comforting.
Imagine the smoothness of a summer coat.
Imagine the fluffiness of a winter coat.
Imagine if they would carry you for miles – in the rain and mud without fault.
Imagine if they would take you up high mountains.
Imagine if they would safely navigate you across the rivers and creeks.
Imagine if their footing would always be corrected to protect you.
Imagine if they sensed danger on the horizon and let you know.
Imagine if they could live as long as we do.
Imagine their strength to go on even when there is pain.
Imagine their excitement of a special dinner.
Imagine the security of being with your mate.
Imagine the thrill of the cold shower.
Imagine the sense of total loyalty.
Imagine the sense of complete security and trust.
Imagine the wind in your hair and face as you navigate life together.
Imagine if you could feel the vibration of their hooves.
Imagine a life lived with your loyal companion.
Just imagine, Just imagine, Just imagine-----
